COUNCIL SHOULD KEEP FAITH

Every member of the present city council will be elected as a champion of reduced interest rates on city bonds.

No one has even claimed that the ultimate effect of the debt-reduction bill will be a reduction in interest charges. An immediate reduction in these charges would be balanced—probably more than balanced—by the fact that over a period of thirty years at rate of 4 1/2, 5 and 5 1/2 per cent. rate far in excess of what money is now worth or is at all likely to be worth in future.

The question confronting council is simply whether the members of that body are going to keep faith with the taxpayers who elected them. There isn't any way of knowing that unless or explaining it away. It is plain, clear and sure and the taxpayers are not going to forget how council needs the credit.

In rejecting the proposal as submitted, aldermen took the first step toward making good the policy on which the members were elected. They should carry through on this.

NO TIME FOR DELAY

There will be general satisfaction at the present announcement that no time will be lost in selecting a successor to the retiring Provincial Treasurer. With the legislature to meet less than a month hence the new Minister must be a busy man getting the budget in shape, the estimates trimmed to the proportions of the probable income, and the financial program in general ready for presentation.

It is to be supposed that, whatever rearranging of portfolios may take place, the new treasurer will be left free to devote his full attention and attention to the duties of that department. This is a man's job in any circumstances, is necessarily difficult beyond ordinary in these difficult times, and it is necessary to have a divided interest and energy of one new to the task.

It is to be assumed as well, whatever the new appointment be, he will be some one who is familiar with the eleven point program—and who remains of it, and sympathetic toward the economic side-up of conditions that would seem to be essential in the first degree. Anybody resembling an orthodox budget cut would fit into a general program to produce credit facilities for which no return value in produce or labor is to be required.

MANUFACTURING MARCHES ON

If evidence contained in a special issue of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association journal, Industrial Canada, by any percent, Canadian industry is now enjoying a period of distinct activity and expansion. What would be more stimulating than to learn that one-fifth of the firms affiliated with the association have augmented their output by twenty per cent during 1967? Payroll have swollen too as plants enlarged their productive capacities. An air of briskly determined optimism pervades the nation's business. Encouraged by present success, Canadian manufacturers appear resolved to wage relentless war on unemployment by proclaiming and practicing a policy of continued industrial expansion.

It is rather surprising that the heartening aspect of the report is the extent to which western Canada has shared in this revival of manufacturing on a major scale. Canadians have been led to consider secondary industries on the prairies as a paramount factor in national prosperity, so fascinated were they by the agricultural development of the West. But now time and time again manufacturing may buttress its agrarian economy and strengthen its farming activities by a definite commercial reason. "Unemployment," said the eminent English economist, Sir William Beveridge, "is a problem of industry, not of agriculture."

That is why this review of the nation's welfare as an index of the state of steady but unabated advance to prosperity.

WHAT FOLLOWS?

Following the decision of the Privy Council, the next question is order: Is it to become of the invalid legislation? Is unemployment insurance—and the other major deal with in rejected legislation—to be dropped?

These federal questions were ruled out when they were held to infringe upon the legislative powers of the provincial legislatures. The question was one of provincial rights, not of the desirability or undesirability of such law being in existence.

Obviously the end sought would be gained if the legislatures of the nine provinces were to all pass similar, and uniform, measures. There is room for a large measure of doubt as to all likely to do so. They did not do it in the past, and they are not likely to do it now.

Benjamin's decision to short-cut proceedings by putting bills through the federal parliament at the risk of trespassing upon the law-making powers of the legislatures.

It seems clear that parliament cannot reconstruct the discarded Acts without repeating the offence, however that might be charged.

There is indicated therefore a getting-together of the federal and provincial Governments, with view to reaching agreement among the provinces to either pass uniform provincial laws or to sanction the passage of acceptable legislation by parliament.

In neither event is it likely that the discarded Acts will be again brought into existence, either as parallel provincial enactments or as federal legislation. Ottawa should be charged with the issues involved the provincial viewpoints are far apart.

A DISTINCT LOSS

Ottawa reports an explanation widely accepted there is that Mr. Cockfield resigned in protest to Premier Albert's swing to the left wing group. Ottawa should be charged with the issues involved the provincial viewpoints are far apart.

There isn't any left wing group. The Premier has said so.

It also reports that the retiring Minister was regarded as a stabilizing force in the Government, who had created a favorable impression at the Dominion capital, and who's advice if taken would have been of great value in meeting provincial obligations. It is easy to believe this, for it accords with what Alberts thought of the late Provincial Treasurer, and have understood regarding his financial view.

To outsiders it has been a cause for wonder how the fortunes of political "war" came to rest on the shoulders of a man who was so widely known for whose basic policy he has shown no enthusiasm, if not even casual agreement. If he be viewed over a period of thirty years at rate of 4 1/2, 5 and 5 1/2 per cent. rate far in excess of what money is now worth or is at all likely to be worth in future.

The question confronting council is simply whether the members of that body are going to keep faith with the taxpayers who elected them. ## Bronchopneumonia

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

Bronchopneumonia develops in those having had colds, influenza or acute bronchitis and inasmuch as these disorders of the upper respiratory passages are most common during January, February and March, it becomes known that the number of cases of bronchopneumonia also increases during these months.

This disorder may be defined as an acute infectious disease of the lungs, in which both lungs are usually involved, which is accompanied by the multiplication of a variety of infective agents.

Bronchopneumonia runs a variable course and is marked by extreme variation in symptoms. In this it is different from lobar pneumonia, which usually runs a more or less regular course and is marked by symptoms so characteristic that the diagnosis is easily established. In bronchopneumonia the patient may experience symptoms so slight that he never knows he had the disease, or the symptoms may be so severe that a serious illness is experienced.

Bronchopneumonia may begin as a simple attack of acute inflammation of the lung which may extend downward from the bronchial tubes into the smaller branches of these tubes and into the lung tissue so indistinctly that it is difficult to know exactly when the bronchitis gave way to bronchopneumonia. Or, the patient may begin with the symptoms of an ordinary cold and may come to recover only to develop this form of pneumonia a few days later. Sometimes, the onset of the bronchopneumonia may develop in a recovered cold in a manner from a cold and the patient complains that the cold "hangs on," and after being chilled or getting the feet wet, or the great variety of colds, influenza, pneumonia of this type may occur suddenly in an individual seeming to be in the best of health, while the secondary form occurs after the patient has recovered from a cold.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Canadian lovers of film art are feeling concerned over disclosure from England that British super-films cannot continue to be produced unless steps are taken to ensure wider circulation of their films. The British film industry has started on Great Britain in film production just when British films were congratulating themselves that British producers had more than closed the gap and were producing films of the equal—and sometimes better—than Hollywood's best, comes the news that British producers are running into financial losses.

Part of the problem is mathematically demonstrable. Britain has forty millions of population and United States nearly three times that number. American films, by reason of their long start, have earned their way into the British market, whereas British films find it hard to get into the American market.

American producers long ago formed theatre-owned subsidiaries to ensure control of the distribution of their films in the United States; their exhibitors are negligible. Canada has helped the British producer by requiring that not less than twenty per cent of the films shown in Canada be of British origin. It may be that the British government will insist on some equal measure of reciprocity for British films in the United States market, where voluntary co-operation is not possible.

It would be nothing short of a tragedy should British producers after attaining a leadership in the art of film, be compelled to resign their lead for lack of financial support.

One of the greatest of the British super-films is showing in Edmonton this week, based on the life of the great Dutch painter, Rembrandt. Charles Laughton plays the title role, assisted by a host of supporting stars. The film is a masterpiece of art and technique. The story is the life of Rembrandt, who was born in 1606 in the Dutch town of Leiden. He was a brilliant painter and etcher, and his work is still admired today. The film is a masterpiece of art and technique, and it is a pity that it is not shown in more theatres.

The film story opens with Rembrandt at 36 at the height of his fame, happy with his rich and beautiful wife and his two children. He is a man in Holland. In his wife and model Saskia, the mother of his son Titus, he claims to possess the perfect woman. But the picture is a tragedy. He is shocked that he is absent from the general States' market, where voluntary co-operation is not possible.

ERIC NEWTON, ARTIST, CRITIC, CITY VISITOR

Contributor to Manchester Guardian Has Definite Views on Subject

Mr. Eric Newton, art critic for the Manchester Guardian, adjusted the ketchup-colored cravat that nestled on his sea-green shirt. "You're looking magnificent," he said to the artist who was attempting to create something, "he said as he flicked the ash from his cigarette. "Throughout Western Canada I find that there are many eager artists and art lovers but who don't receive public sympathy."

He is a champion of modern art but some of the more fervent canvases leave him unimpressed. The works of Dalí, leader of the surrealist school, quite frankly make his flesh creep. Among Dalí's art gentleman who addressed a New York audience of art lovers while he wore a diving helmet.

Mr. Newton doesn't believe that the modern painter is as much as the giant of the past. He is convinced, however, that this situation could be remedied if the modern could be spurred on by universal encouragement and accumulation.

GIVEN PATRONAGE
"In other words," said Mr. Newton, "the Pope or someone would be an artist work and say to him, 'See here, my man, you're the goods—here's a nice bit of money. You cover it with paintings and take a couple of years off your life, if you wish.' The painter, according to Mr. Newton's theory, was so buoyed up by the praise that he would outdo himself in subsequent years."

NOT A LUXURY
"Art is a part of everyday life and not a luxury," he told the interviewers. He admitted the existence of many nations that have a taste for art, but the public should not scorn artists as a class, "they're because their ranks included faculty."

The best way to instruct a child in art, Mr. Newton said, "is to give him a lump of clay and tell him to make the figure of a horse. It builds up will power and character. In this regard he approved the 'centerpiece' system which was introduced recently into Alberta schools."

He will leave for the east Tuesday night.

Hollywood Gossip

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF
ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By PAUL HARRISON

ENGLISH film producers are regarded by Hollywood with deference and respect. The California colony usually is a bit awed by foreigners of any sort, even money counts and second-string movie hall players.

But there is about the English film executive, with his spats and his bow tie, a dignity and a sagging that Hollywood's producers and his flunkies.

Of course, if you want to study the records, you will find that the English, most of them, are not very good showmen. They are not able to make a great many pictures, and the ones they do make are by means so popular in their own countries.

Certainly very few are considered good enough to buck the mighty King of the Studio.

Houston claims that the idea just came to him as he lay in bed one evening thinking about the number of people who were killed in car accidents which have occurred within the last few years.

The idea modernizing the light bulb into a flying saucer, so that it is possible to look right into glaring headlights and read the numbers on a license plate placed between them.

Police stated that they have received many complaints, especially from those who drive at night on country roads, that the present regulations require a license which is too low to reveal the present number of the car.

DEVICE TENDS TO ELIMINATE GLARE LIGHTS

A simple, easily attached accessory, which will enable motorists to drive against a rising or setting sun or glaring headlights without the slightest discomfort or danger was demonstrated to A. A. Shoup, chief police officer, by the inventor, Percy Houston, of the Wentworth district.

Chief Shoup held the invention as it was demonstrated. "Just the thing we need," he said. Present laws require that rays from automobile headlights must strike below 42 inches above the ground at a distance of 75 feet ahead of the car.

Houston claims that the idea just came to him as he lay in bed one evening thinking about the number of people who were killed in car accidents which have occurred within the last few years.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

YOU lose vital nerve force if you eat such things as Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness, cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually destroy health and vitality.

There are 100,000,000 people in the world who are suffering from indigestion, gas, or biliousness. If you are one of them, you will find that the stomach is the most important part of the body. It is the source of all the energy that you need for your daily work. If it is not working properly, you will feel tired, nervous, and generally unwell.

Dr. J. C. Fraser and Dr. C. F. Patterson have made a special study of the stomach and have developed a new method of treating indigestion, gas, and biliousness. This method is called "The Stomach Cure" and it is the only one that has been found to be effective.

Well-Groomed Feet For Modern Shoes

By GLADYS GLAD

According to the latest reports from Paris, lace-up stockings are the newest in evening beauty. The toes of these new evening hose are made of a fine, sheer material and are colored to match the shade of the feet. They are also very comfortable and do not cause any chafing or irritation.

Wives Who Devote All Their Time and Efforts To Their Children Face a Drab Middle-Aged Life Unless They Do Something About It

If I could say one word more earnest than any other to women, it would be to urge them to begin to prepare for middle age. It is a fact that middle age is coming for every woman. It is not a distant future, it is a present reality. It is a time when the body begins to show signs of wear and the mind begins to grow weary.

Dr. J. C. Fraser and Dr. C. F. Patterson have made a special study of middle age and have developed a new method of treating middle-aged women. This method is called "The Middle-Aged Woman's Cure" and it is the only one that has been found to be effective.

What To Do

By E. V. Shepherd

As often is the case in duplicate, a bad hander, indeed, a hand should not be passed out. It is interesting to note the variations from a neutral score. One South player made a good score. He was a very good player and he was a very good partner.

Dr. J. C. Fraser and Dr. C. F. Patterson have made a special study of what to do and have developed a new method of doing what to do. This method is called "The What To Do Cure" and it is the only one that has been found to be effective.

CHINA SLOWLY UNITING; WILL OUST JAPANESE

Dr. Chen Han-Seng Declares Bickering Fac-tors Reach Understanding

The bickering factors in China are slowly reaching a state of mutual understanding and will eventually unite to oust the invading Japanese. Dr. Chen Han-Seng, director of research for the Sun Yat Sen Institute at Nanking, told reporters when he arrived in Edmonton Sunday night.

Dr. Chen, youngish, bespectacled and vivacious, is here to address the members of the Canadian Institute on National Affairs at a meeting Monday night. He represents his country as the Pacific relations conference in Yosemite park last summer and since then has travelled extensively in the United States under the auspices of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Salient points in Dr. Chen's interview were:

1.—The land problem is China's most fundamental problem.

2.—The most immediate cause in China is the Japanese invasion.

3.—A pre-Japanese clique in Nanking has delayed the action between the National government and the warlords of north China.

4.—Nationalism is growing in China despite Japanese efforts to suppress the movement.

Dr. Chen is primarily interested in agriculture. During his reports of government experiments with wheat crops, he says that irrigation methods in the country have been improved appreciably. The average farm in north China, he pointed out, is only eight acres in size.

BELGIUM EXAMPLE

He refused to agree that over-population was responsible for the difficulties and he cited Belgium as an example of a country which is similarly over-populated but, none the less, prosperous.

Similarly, while admitting that poor administration of provinces might have some effect, he was inclined to minimize the consequences of it. "I am one who does not believe it is the most fundamental cause," he said.

Dr. Chen told reporters that the various factions in China were individually opposed to the Japanese invader but up until now they have been unable to agree upon a plan for ridding themselves of their unwelcome guest.

FUTURE CAMPAIGN

Marshall Chang Hsueh Liang's recent kidnapping of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was a move to compel China to accept a definitive peace attitude towards the Japanese. Dr. Chen accused the pro-Japanese position as a positive campaign when China's forces were so weak that they would have been obliterated by the foe.

Dr. Chen is no champion of "young men," he made it plain that he did not believe that Nationalist youth alone was responsible for the victory of the French armistice. He would like to see that Joan of Arc was solely responsible for driving the English out of France.

"Night Shift," a new series of programs by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will take to the air on February 4. An interesting radio work, though one-time broadcasts of a similar nature have been made, the series will not originate in the studios but will come from various institutions throughout the country. Arrangements to present arrangements the first program will come from Sydney, Nova Scotia, where a broadcast will be staged from a large coal mine of the type which extends some miles under the ocean. Subsequent programs will be heard from light-house near Halifax, from a pulp and paper mill in Quebec, from the Mount Royal in Ottawa, from the Turner Valley oil fields and many others the length and breadth of the Dominion.

The series is being produced by Robert T. Bowman, former staff commentator for the CBC in England, who gained recognition as "Foster Hewitt" description of the heavy games last winter as an Olympic member in Germany. Mr. Bowman joined the CBC last December, returning to Canada where he had graduated from McGill University some years before. Designed to create interest in Canadian life in Canada last winter at the CBC, it will be heard weekly over the network. Recent developments of portable transmitters, usually used for Sunday and such events, has brought more interesting programs of an informal type to the air. It is hoped that the "Night Shift" series will appeal to all who listen to the radio.

Notes on the reporters' memo pad: Paul Whiteman stoutly denies the rumor he is contemplating disbanding his organization. At present he is conferring with a promoter to produce a symphony concert. A popular song of the week, "You'll Never Love Again," John Farrell, young Canadian, who frequently appeared on CBC programs from Toronto last season, is in London, England, for his summer holiday. A former Toronto newspaperman, he is staying at the home of well-known European correspondent, "Ken Murray" and "Oswald" will be in London early in April. Another international concert from South America will be on the air February 21. Fred McMurtry is getting $2,000 a week for his labor at Doc Powell's oil program. His contract is to run for 15 weeks which makes a total of $7,500 from the sponsor.

Sports fans who are getting the broadcast program from England and have been for the past few weeks, this week will hear the broadcast of the fight between Jack Peterson and Fred Atchison. Although there is no title at stake, the matching of the two well-known fighters should prove of interest to sports fans here. Incidentally it will be interesting to hear how our English brethren describe the bout. The time and date will be February 1, beginning at 8:31 p.m. Edmonton time.

Alise Fourierre returns to Montreal, Quebec, to appear on the "Canadian Court of the Air" program of February 2 at 7:30 p.m. Guest of Dr. J. J. Gagnier, who is returning from the Barbours of Seattle. Madame Fourierre has been returning from Europe where she had engagements at the leading capitals. Later in the month she will return to the program when she appears with Eugene Charlier, guest conductor on February 17.

ARMY SECRET SERVICE FACING GOVT ATTACK BY C.C.F.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—A nation-wide mobilization of public opinion against the increased defence expenditures already tabled in the House of Commons was decided upon by the National Council of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

There was no indication of threat against Canada from abroad, the council said, and any danger from "subversive elements" within might better be eliminated by increasing expenditures on social services.

IN EVENT OF WAR

All provincial councils, affiliated organizations, members and sympathizers, accordingly will be urged to undertake immediately a vigorous campaign against increased defence expenditures, for elimination of profits from munitions manufacture, and for automatic conscription of finance and industry in the event of war.

In the general resolution adopted after day-long discussion, the council stated that "there are no real dangers to Canada as declared by the government which be to be, in mind when establishing a system of national defence."

member, the combined forces of peace-loving members of the labour could have stayed the challenge of the government's defence program.

When the challenge came, the British government broke away in an act of dramatic cowardice which brought upon Britain the contempt of the whole world and left her alone, without a friend, and with both of her political and moral prestige and weakened in her military security. That why we must re-arm now—and we should never allow to drive it home.

Those of us who advocated drastic action in the last election, and who are now in the government, are today so reluctantly with angry disappointment and bitterness of heart and the not too confident hope that our armament may yet be sold to the service of a strong re-united peace league.

There is no way in which the effect of the betrayal of the league on recruiting can be exaggerated, but it is mainly a contributing cause of the present crisis.

Many PROPOSALS

Among the many suggestions being made, those relating to pay are more numerous. It is suggested that rates be raised from $30 per week to anywhere from $40 to $60 per week, that the most drastic reductions from pay for overtime, meals, and other benefits should be made. It is also suggested that food be made better and more plentiful and include super at night, that barracks be rebuilt, that more comfortable by stronger electric lights, central heating and spring beds (springs included) be made. It is also suggested that work be done be discontinued; that "fatigue" be turned over to the "household duties" unit; and that "fatigue" work such as polishing brass and cleaning be dispensed with.

Another suggestion coming from many quarters is the "Proprietor of Parking Lot Help Responder."

TOBACCO, Feb. 1.—According to a written judgment filed in court here Saturday by County Judge P. M. Field, a parking lot proprietor is responsible for damage occurring to a customer's automobile while in the proprietor's custody.

Vera Wallace was awarded $60.50 damages by her from M. Sternbaum.

On his farm a hard-frosted snow-drift had formed over an old straw-topped bottom. So hard was the crust of the drift that horses had tramped on it for some time. The other day a horse broke through the crust and out popped a pig.

A search revealed that another pig had died trying to imbed itself in the straw for similar protection.

A whole day passed before Johnson was able to catch the hibernating porker and force food down its throat. Today it was as lively as any of its mates, and its appetite was big.

Boiled Shirts Diplomatic, Social Problem in Moscow

MOSCOW, Feb. 1.—A grave crisis confronts the Moscow diplomatic corps over the boiled-shirt question.

With the winter social whirl at its height and with foreign diplomats called on to dine out nightly in formal attire, the lack of adequate laundry facilities has posed a serious problem for worried ambassadors.

The National Hotel, the only one in Moscow equipped to treatenough trouble-shoots, has indignantly refused to take shirts to clean.

The few Chinese laundrymen pleaded they could not afford it.

One Russian laundryman promised a 30-day shift service at $3 per shirt.

Diplomats who already had exhausted their reserve supplies were wearing shirts four and five times as long as new.

Such a movement was akin to rush a messenger to Heligoland, capital of Finland, with a large batch of solid shirts to be laundered.

CONFERENCE URGED TO CLARIFY POINTS TO COUNCIL RULING

CONFERENCE between the Dominion and provincial governments regarding clarification of constitutional points was advocated by Hon. J. W. Huggill, K.C., attorney-general, in the course of his remarks regarding the ruling ultra vires by the privy council in the decision passed by the Bennett government.

Hon. Mr. Huggill declared that such a conference would make for better understanding between the Dominion and provincial authorities.

The privy council, he said, was not the "Council of the Empire" but the "Council of the Dominion."

Commenting on the unemployment insurance legislation, the attorney-general stated that the principle of the unemployed and in giving compensation in case of accidents.

He said that it might be possible to fill in the unemployment insurance plan with the Social Credit program.
